

How should we approach learning at home for Religious Education?

How long should I spend on Religious Education each week?

You should be trying to follow your timetable – this means 2 hours of Religious Education per fortnight.

What should I be doing each day then?

Aim to spend 2 days a week doing 30 minutes of Religious Education per day.

If you go to the home learning section on the Brine Leas School website you will find Instructions for Home Learning each week. There are some worksheets on the website as well to help complete activities if you are struggling accessing the school portal. Ensure you check the link carefully, so that you are doing the activities set for the right week.

New instructions will be released on a fortnightly basis.

PPTS/worksheets for lessons are available through the remote desktop – student portal – read only section. There is more information on how to access this on the home learning instruction sheet for each week.

Where should I be putting my work?

Write in your exercise books or if you do not have them on some lined paper.

So how do I know that what I'm doing is right?

If you look on the home learning section of the Brine Leas School website. Each lesson has a Feedback sheet with answers to key questions and model answers for application activities. Please use this sheet after you have completed all activities to mark and edit your answers with green pen. Your parents may want to help you to do this.
